Providing Tenth District insights on regional and national banks

Third Quarter 2025 Banking Conditions

By Mary Bongers

The Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City dedicates staff to monitor banking trends nationally and across our seven-state region.

Banking conditions across the Tenth District (District) have been characterized by expansion of the net interest margin (NIM), which reached 3.85 percent in the third quarter, its highest level since 2019 (see Chart A11). District banks under $250 million saw the greatest increase, with an aggregate NIM of 4.67 percent (see Chart A11). Improvement has been driven by increased yields on earning assets, which rose by 12 basis points (bps) during the quarter and reached 17-year highs (see Supplemental Chart). At the same time, costs of funds remain relatively stable, increasing only 1 bp during the quarter. As a result of margin expansion, return on average assets (ROAA) increased across District banks, now at 1.28 percent year-to-date, which remains above its 10-year average (see Charts A4 and A6). However, greater earnings improvement was hindered by increased overhead expenses (see Charts A9 and A19).

Asset quality metrics show some signs of deterioration. Problem assets across District banks continue to increase, now representing 0.77 percent of total loans and other real estate, compared to 0.65 percent one year ago (see Chart B7). Smaller District banks, particularly those under $250 million, have the highest problem asset rates (see Chart B7). Across the major loan types, CRE loans have seen the greatest increase in noncurrent rates in the prior year (see Chart B8). Aggregate District bank allowance levels remain steady at 1.40 percent of loans (see Chart B5). However, District banks under $250 million significantly increased provisions during the quarter, now at the highest level since 2010, amidst increased charge-offs, higher noncurrent loan levels, and greater loan growth (see Chart B2).

Balance sheet growth during the quarter was largely driven by loans, which increased 1.41 percent quarter-over-quarter across District banks (see Charts C3 and C14). CRE lending saw the greatest growth, followed by agriculture loans (see Chart C16). Liquid assets remained relatively stable at almost 15 percent of total assets, with declining cash items offset by growth in investment securities and decreased securities pledging (see Charts D7 and D9). Unrealized loss positions on securities continue to improve in line with market rate decreases (see Chart D11).

Capital levels across District banks continue to increase, benefiting from increased earnings and only modest asset growth. The District Tier 1 leverage ratio increased to 10.29 percent during the quarter, which is among historic highs (see Chart A2). District funding profiles benefited from moderate deposit growth, resulting in decreased borrowing levels (see Chart C3), though the trend differs across some banks, particularly smaller District banks. Overall, utilization of noncore and wholesale funds remains above the 10-year average, despite recent declines across some bank sizes (see Chart D14).

Appendix

The appendix provides technical notes and definitions of the financial ratios presented in this report.

Questions or comments relating to this report may be directed to

KC.SRM.SRA.DistrictBankingConditions@kc.frb.org.

Technical Notes:

The population of banks included in this report is limited to commercially chartered state member, nonmember, and national banks. The Tenth District encompasses organizations headquartered in western Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Colorado, Wyoming, and northern New Mexico.

All financial metrics presented in this report are weighted averages. Banks are grouped into asset categories based on total assets reported as of each financial date. For purposes of this report, large banks include banks with total assets greater than $100 billion, regional banks include banks with assets between $10 billion and $100 billion, and community banks include banks with assets of less than $10 billion. Assets are measured as of each financial date. Charts that present growth rates and changes in balance sheet levels are merger-adjusted consistent with the process that FDIC analysts use to account for mergers.¹

Items from the Reports of Income are reported on a calendar year-to-date (YTD) basis by financial institutions. Ratios utilizing these items are calculated differently when presented as YTD versus quarterly. For YTD calculations, items are annualized based on values reported calendar YTD and divided by an average of the balance sheet item(s) reported for each quarter YTD. For quarterly calculations, items are annualized based on values reported for the quarter and divided by the balance sheet item(s) for that quarter.

The sum of loans secured by farmland (including farm residential and other improvements) and loans to finance agricultural production and other loans to farmers.

Allowance for Credit Losses (ACL)

The purpose of the ACL is to reflect estimated credit losses within a bank's portfolio of loans and leases. Estimated credit losses are estimates of the current amount of loans that are probable that the bank will be unable to collect given the facts and circumstances since the evaluation date (generally the balance sheet date).

Assets

The sum of cash and balances due from depository institutions, securities, federal funds sold and securities purchased under agreements to resell, loans and leases (net of unearned income

Cash and Reserve Holdings

The sum of interest-bearing balances (including time certificates of deposit not held for trading) and noninterest-bearing balances, currency and coin (includes cash items in process of collection and unposted debits).

Commercial and Industrial (C&I) Loans

Loans for commercial and industrial purposes to sole proprietorships, partnerships, corporations, and other business enterprises, which are secured (other than by real estate) or unsecured, single-payment or installment.

¹ Merger-adjusted calculations add the assets and liabilities of acquired institutions to the acquiring institutions in previous periods. The analysis treats acquired and acquiring institutions as if the merger had already occurred by the beginning of the period being analyzed. See Breitenstein, Eric C., and Derek K. Thieme. 2019. "Merger-Adjusting Bank Data: A Primer." FDIC Quarterly, vol. 13, no. 1, pp. 31–49.
