

Jean Bruesewitz

Senior Vice President, Visa U.S.A.

Ms. Bruesewitz is the senior vice president of Processing and Emerging Products at Visa U.S.A. She is responsible for the development and management of Visa's payment processing solutions, value-add platforms and services, and knowledge-based risk and information products. She also is a member of Visa's Investment Planning and Pricing committees. She joined Visa in 1993 to spearhead the development of global advanced technology risk management and decision services and systems, including the first predictive service based on neural network technology. She is a veteran of the U.S. banking industry and previously held several management positions, including for bankcard issuing and acquiring, commercial lending, and consumer credit.