

Roy DeCicco

Senior Vice President,

JPMorgan Chase

Roy DeCicco is a senior vice president and the industry issues/payment systems strategies executive for the Treasury Services business at JPMorgan Chase. Mr. DeCicco has responsibility for managing the relationship with industry and regulatory organizations for payment-related initiatives in the global markets. Mr. DeCicco is a member of the SWIFT USNG Steering Committee and he chairs the SWIFT USNG Cash and Treasury Sub-committee. Mr. DeCicco is a member of the National Automated Clearing House Association (NACHA) Board of Directors, a member of the Federal Reserve Payments Risk Committee Working Group, an alternate member of The Clearing House Interbank Payments System (CHIPS) Business Committee. Previously, Mr. DeCicco worked for Citibank managing several products, including dollar clearing and information services.