

Steve Piper is director of energy research for S&P Global Market Intelligence. Mr. Piper manages strategic research and forecasting for clients in the utilities, natural gas and coal industries.

Mr. Piper has more than 25 years' experience in the electric power and upstream fuels business, specializing in market price forecasting, economic feasibility assessment, demand forecasting, and environmental analysis.