

Jason Bordoff is co-founding dean of the Columbia Climate School, founding director of the Center on Global Energy Policy and professor of professional practice in international and public relations at Columbia University SIPA. Mr. Bordoff's research and policy interests include economics, energy, the environment and national security.

Prior to joining Columbia, Mr. Bordoff had been a special assistant to President Barack Obama and senior director for energy and climate change on the staff of the National Security Council. He also had senior policy positions on the White House's National Economic Council and Council on Environmental Quality.