

Juan Torres oversees NREL's research on power systems engineering, cybersecurity, energy security and resilience, and decision science and systems analysis. He is co-chair for the U.S. Department of Energy's Grid Modernization Laboratory Consortium and co-leads the Advanced Research on Integrated Energy Systems research platform.

Prior to joining NREL in 2017, Mr. Torres served in a variety of technical and management positions throughout his 27-year career at Sandia National Laboratories.