The Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City announces director election results and appointments to fill seats on its headquarters office and branch boards of directors.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City announces director election results and appointments to fill seats on its headquarters office and branch boards of directors. All appointments are effective Jan. 1, 2022.

Kansas City Directors

At the Kansas City headquarters office, Kyle Heckman, chairman, president and chief executive officer, Flatirons Bank, Boulder, Colo., was reelected to a three-year term by Group 2 banks as a Class A director, representing commercial banks that are members of the Federal Reserve System. Mr. Heckman has served on the headquarters office Board of Directors since 2019.

Cassandra R. Savage, owner and member, The Savage Group, LLC, Lenexa, Kan., was reelected to a three-year term by Group 1 banks as a Class B director, representing the public. Ms. Savage has served on the headquarters office Board of Directors since 2021.

In addition, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System reappointed Edmond Johnson, president and chief executive officer, Premier Manufacturing, Inc. and eNFUSION, Frederick, Colo., to a three-year term as a Class C director, representing the public. The Board of Governors also redesignated Mr. Johnson as the Kansas City Fed board of directors' chair for 2022.

The Board of Governors also redesignated Patrick A. Dujakovich, president, Greater Kansas City AFL-CIO, Kansas City, Mo., as deputy chair for 2022.

Members of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City's head office Board of Directors represent the Tenth Federal Reserve District: Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Wyoming, northern New Mexico and western Missouri.

The Kansas City board consists of three directors who are bankers elected by commercial banks that are members of the Federal Reserve System, three who represent the public and are elected by member banks, and three who represent the public and are appointed by the Federal Reserve Board of Governors in Washington. The authority of a Reserve Bank's board of directors is established by the Federal Reserve Act, which provides that the work of each Reserve Bank "shall be conducted under the supervision and control of a board of directors" and that directors "shall perform the duties usually appertaining to the office of directors of banking associations and all such duties as are prescribed by law." Directors meet eleven times per year to confer on developments in their industries and the economy and to oversee the Bank's operations and policies. The directors also are responsible for establishing the Bank's discount rate, subject to review and determination by the Federal Reserve Board of Governors.

Branch Directors

Each branch office board comprises seven directors, four of whom are appointed by the Kansas City Board of Directors. The remaining three are appointed by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. Branch directors meet to confer on economic and financial developments and business conditions. The following appointments were made to the branch boards of directors, effective Jan. 1, 2022.

At the Denver Branch:

- Janice J. Lucero, president and chief executive officer, MVD Express, Albuquerque, N.M., was appointed to serve a three-year term by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.
