

Proposals for Comment

July 22, 2020

Proposals for Comment

---

Proposals for Comment from the Federal Reserve Board of interest to banking organizations in the Tenth District are posted on this page. There are currently three Proposals for Comment at this time.

Agencies extend comment period on advance notice of proposed rulemaking on large bank resolvability.

The comment period is extended to January 23, 2023.

December 15, 2022

Federal Reserve Board invites public comment on proposed principles providing a high-level framework for the safe and sound management of exposures to climate-related financial risks for large banking organizations.

Comments must be received on or before February 2, 2023.

December 2, 2022

Federal Reserve Board invites public comment on a proposal to publish a periodic list of depository institutions that have access to Federal Reserve accounts—often referred to as “master accounts”— and payment services.

Comments must be received on or before January 4, 2023.

November 4, 2022

---