KANSAS CITY FED APPOINTS MORHAUS, ROBBINS TO NEW ROLES

Kansas City Fed President Esther George recently announced the following officer promotions, effective Feb. 1:

Dawn Morhaus has been appointed executive vice president of the Bank's Treasury Services and Technology Support Division. Morhaus, who has been senior vice president of this division since 2011, serves on the Bank's Management Committee. She joined the Bank in 1987 and held various staff positions in the Computer Systems and Check Collection Departments. She was appointed assistant vice president of Retail Payments Support in 1997 and was named vice president of Corporate Services in 2000. In 2004, Morhaus was named vice president of Treasury Services and assumed additional responsibility for Application Development in the Bank's Information Technology Division in 2008. She holds a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration from William Jewell College.

Kim Robbins has been appointed senior vice president of the Financial Services Division and will serve on the Bank's Management Committee. In this role, she will assume responsibilities for the Bank's Customer Relations and Support Office, Customer Contact Center, Wholesale Operations and Cash Services departments. She will also assume the role of director of the Federal Reserve System's Financial Services Policy Support Office, where she has been vice president since 2016. Robbins joined the Bank in 1996 and served in various roles in the Cash Services, Human Resources Department and Savings Bonds. Beginning in 2000, she held various positions with GAP Inc. and Payless Shoe Source before returning to the Bank in 2007. She was appointed assistant vice president in 2010 and vice president in 2012 within the Information Technology Division. Robbins holds a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City and its branches in Denver, Oklahoma City and Omaha serve the seven states of the Tenth Federal Reserve District: Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Wyoming, northern New Mexico and western Missouri.
