

Tyler Moore, Assistant Professor, Southern Methodist University

Mr. Moore is an assistant professor of computer science and engineering at Southern Methodist University. His research focuses on the economics of information security, the study of electronic crime and the development of policy for strengthening security. He directs the Security Economics Lab within the High Assurance Computing and Networking Labs, a research group of faculty and students working in areas related to security.

Mr. Moore was a director and vice president of the International Financial Cryptography Association from 2011 to 2014. He also is editor in chief of the new Journal of Cybersecurity.