

Guillaume Gruère, Senior Policy Analyst, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development

Mr. Gruère is a senior policy analyst in the Trade and Agriculture Directorate of the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), Paris, where he leads the work on agriculture and water. He recently published a report on the management of groundwater use in agriculture, based on a comprehensive survey of OECD country policies, and is now leading a project on future water risks for agriculture.

He previously was a senior research fellow in the Environment and Production Technology Division of the International Food Policy Research Institute in Washington, D.C., where led economic research on genetic resource policies (biotech, biosafety and biodiversity) in developing countries.
